THE TOMB OF AHMED EFLÂKÎ DEDE

Date : 13th Century

Built by : Unknown

Architect : Unknown

Ahmed Eflâkî Dede narrated detailed and important information about Hz. Mevlâna and Mevleviyeh with his book called "Menâkıbü'l-Ârifin" (Anecdotes of Intellectuals). Eflâkî Dede joined the entire travels of Ulu Ârif Çelebi who was grandchild of Mevlâna and exerted himself to expand Mevleviyeh all over the Anatolia.

In the porch planned tomb remains only pieces of two walls with chinas with brickworks and in turquoise blue and purple color. The gravestone of Eflâkî Dede in the tomb was dated 1360.

In the excavations carried out by the Directory of Museum, the basements on the both sides of the southern facade of the tomb were revealed.

When the traces on the western surrounding walls of the tomb are examined, it can be said to have connections with Mevlevî Lodge.

Hız, Mevlâna'nın lalası olan Cemel Ali Dede, Hız, Mevlâna'yı çocukken sırtında taşıdığı için bu isimle tanınmıştır. Meram bağlarında yapılmış olan Cemel Ali Dede Türbesi bir Mevlevi zaviyesidir. Zaviyeden günümüze türbe ve mescid (semahane) gelmiştir.

Eyyan biçimli türbe, mescide bitişik olarak inşa edilmiştir. Türbenin cenazelik kısmı bulunmaktadır. 1961 yılı onarımlarında eyyan biçimli türbenin önüne camikanlı çerçeve geçirilmiştir. Konya ve çevresinde yapılmış eyyan biçimli türbelerle benzerlik gösteren türbenin cephesinde ve mezar sandukalarında Selçuklu dönemi çini örnekleri kullanılmıştır.

TURBE OF SULTAN AHMED KHAN

The 14th Ottoman Sultan, Sultan Ahmed I, was the son of Sultan Mehmed III and Handan Sultan. Ahmed I, the first Ottoman Sultan who ascended the throne without going to Istanbul, changed Ottoman succession system and brought the Akber and Esaki system. He also wrote poems and introduced "Şakir". The turbe in Şahinbeyir Island Ottoman Cemetery had been started to be after his death and was completed in 1618 by Sultan Osman II.

The sons of Sultan Ahmed I, 16th Ottoman Sultan Osman II and 17th Ottoman Sultan Murad IV, were buried in this turbe. Sultan Osman II who wrote poems like his father used the pseudonym "Şakir".

Sultan Murad IV had returned successfully from Baghdad and Revet Expeditions in 1635 and a medallion (constructed in the turbe in memory of the expeditions). There is also an inscription outside the Sultan Murad IV in the turbe.

The turbe, which is covered with marble from the outside, has a square plan with beveled corners. The top is covered with a dome. The door of the building, which has a three-arched portico in front of made of Kütahya technique and decorated with ivory, mother of pearl and mother-of-pearl inlay. Opposite of the entrance door of the tomb was changed to the west with an arch. The interior is lit by windows arranged in 3 rows in the building back. Also with metal composition of hand-charts decorative underlaid techniques are seen.

There are total 98 people belonging to the Ottoman dynasty family together buried in the turbe including three sultans and Sultan Ahmed I Khan's wife Marjaneh Khanum Sultan.

TURBE OF SULTAN ABDÜLHAMİD I KHAN

The 27th emperor of the Ottoman Empire Sultan Abdülhamid I, is son of Sultan Ahmed III and Rabia Serrin Sultan. He ascended the throne on January the 21st, 1774, at the age of forty-nine. Sultan Abdülhamid I has founded the last imperial complex of the Ottoman Empire in Istanbul. The turbe, which also is a part of this complex, was built in 1780.

The tetragonal planned turbe was constructed of cut-stone and marble and was covered with a dome. The outer corners were rounded and decorated with pilasters, also there are two roadside fountains. A trilocular rivaq entrance of columns exists in front of the turbe with one facade blocked by a wall, inside the left wall of the turbe, kadem-i şerif (the footprint of Prophet Muhammad) was embed. This kadem-i şerif had been brought from Damascus by the order of Sultan Abdülhamid I and was placed at the turbe. The shutter of Kadem-i Şerif was made of solid gold. The building was enlightened inside with two rows of windows. The midlands of the top row windows are stained-glass. Mülk Suresi was written on the marble vase belt by Mehmed Emin Effendi. The interior as well as the inner arch was decorated in baroque style with hand-drawings in pastel colours.

In the turbe, 18 shahsadahs and khanums (ladies) were buried except from Sultan Abdülhamid I Khan and Sultan Mustafa IV.
